

Vice President Manifesto - Anja Hohmann

Nominated by Peter Ackermann

Seconded by Nikolaus Krall

My name is Anja Hohmann and I am a 2nd year NatSci wanting to take on the responsibilities of SciSoc Vice President. These I understand as representation of the society, formulation of goals for the society and coordination of responsibilities as well as delegation of duties within the committee. Having served as this year's German Society event's officer I am used to communicating with university as well as external organisations and authorities. I am furthermore in charge of organising the Magdalene international freshers' welcome 2009, from which I am gaining experience in coordinating a committee. I very much enjoy putting together events and I would now like to take on more responsibility. SciSoc to me is the ideal opportunity to also get involved in science more and I personally consider the promotion of science in Cambridge very important. Specifically, I would like to improve the representation of SciSoc on Facebook (photos, talk announcements, answers to questions posed) and talks.cam.ac.uk. It will also be necessary to attract new sponsors and enthuse more people to get involved in the general committee. The work done by the current presidents and committee is of very high quality and I would like to use my time and commitment to maintain this.
